About

Everyone likes the fact that I know how to solve the rubik's cube, but only the curious ones wants to know to do it themselves, just like me. Rather watching someone do it, why not try it myself?

I challenged myself to learn on how make a website, and so I did it, to learn ukulele (it was so fun) with no prior experience, with the help of the web and to let my nails grow no matter how hard it can be (#nailBiter).

Programming has always been in my blood and so I wanted to level up, a new challenge, learning Java and JavaScript in a 14-week intensive bootcamp sounds like a worthy one.

And here I am with all my nails intact, wondering, if out there is a worthier challenge.
